„A breathtaking journey to the most remote regions of thinking“

Following the success of last year's European tour with around 30 exhibitions in 20 countries and a closing show at the 56. Biennale di Venezia, the NO SHOW MUSEUM is on tour across America from August to October 2016, including pop-up exhibitions in art venues and galleries. In Ottawa, the No Show Museum is hosted by the EBA, in cooperation with Guy Berube (LPM Projects) and Brendan A. de Montigny (PDA Projects). At the opening on the 25 August 2016 at 7 pm, Andreas Heusser, Curator of No Show Museum, will give an illuminating introduction (lecture performance) to the art of nothing, followed by thoughts and talks about nothing by Dana Danielson and Andrew Morrow.

The NO SHOW MUSEUM is the world's first museum devoted to nothing and its various manifestations throughout the history of art. Its collection includes works and documents from over 120 renowned international artists of the 20th and 21st centuries, among them, Marina Abramovic, Joseph Beuys, Daniel Buren, Maurizio Cattelan, Marcel Duchamp, Hans Haacke, Yves Klein, Piero Manzoni, Gianni Motti, Robert Rauschenberg, Man Ray, Robert Ryman, Richard Serra, Santiago Sierra, Andy Warhol and Rémy Zaugg. The NO SHOW MUSEUM has a mobile presentation space in a converted postal car. It currently hosts a special exhibition entitled „Nothing is impossible“ with a selection of impossible artworks by 22 international artists. The mobile museum has been shipped from Europe to America and will be installed in front of EBA.
